2 008 Read and listen to the story to find out if it is similar to or different from your story.

Alex read out the instructions for the next experiment. 'Add one spoon of yellow powder to the blue liquid,' he read. Phoebe followed the instruction. 'It's turned green!' she said. Patrick was not very impressed. 'Yellow and blue make green,' he said, 'everyone knows that!' 'Wait!' said Alex. 'There are more instructions. Now take some of the liquid and drop it on the brick.' Phoebe did this and the brick turned purple. 'Wow!' she said. 'That's amazing!' 'It's boring,' said Patrick. 'Can we do the next experiment?'

For the next experiment, Patrick read and Alex followed his instructions. He put two spoons of white powder and one spoon of red powder into a test tube. Then he added some pink liquid. It quickly turned orange. 'Now pour some of the orange liquid onto the brick,' said Patrick. Alex did this and amazingly the brick started to get bigger. 'Wow!' said Alex. 'That's fantastic!' Mr Davis came to look at their experiment. 'Good work,' he said, 'but don't forget to read the instructions carefully for your next experiment.' 'That wasn't very interesting,' said Patrick. 'Let's do the next one.'

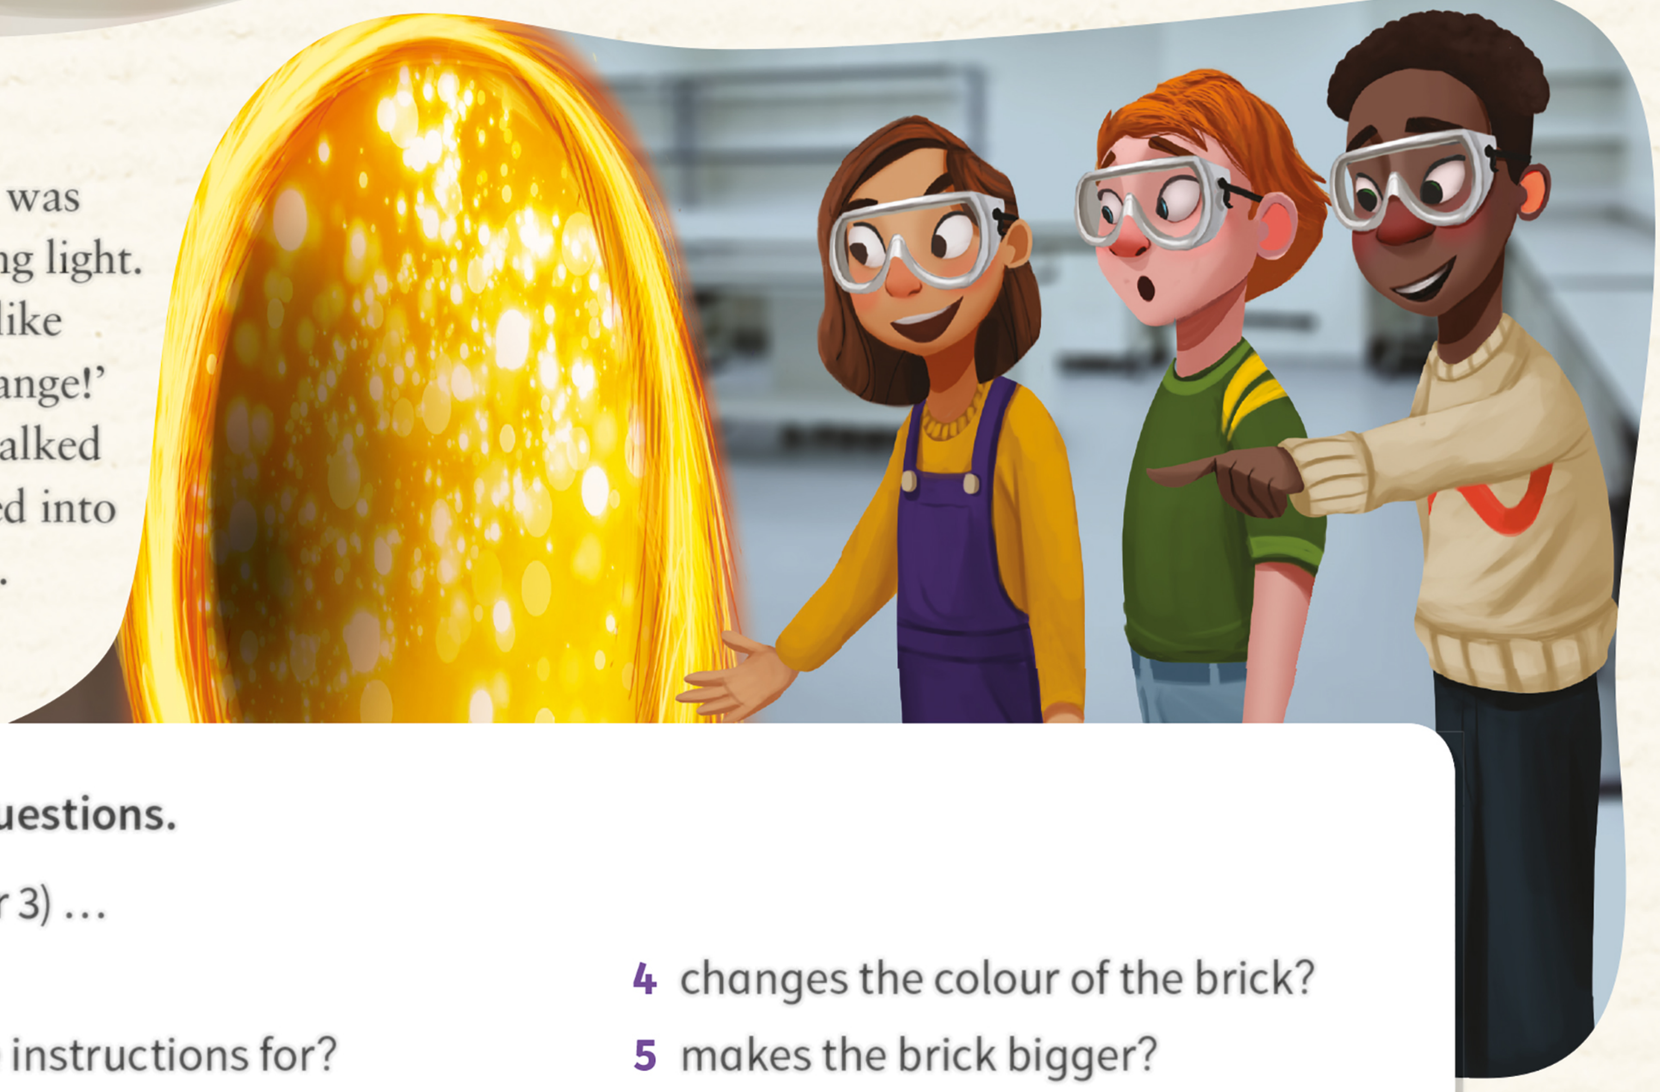

'OK, it's your turn to do it,' said Phoebe. She read the instructions. 'OK, we need some blue powder, some green powder, some orange powder and some green liquid.' While Patrick was getting all the things together, he knocked over a small cup of water. The water went all over the instructions. 'Careful Patrick!' said Phoebe. 'Oh no! There's water on the instructions now and I can't read a thing.' 'Let's ask Mr Davis for some more instructions,' said Alex. 'Don't be silly,' said Patrick. 'I've got everything here. We just need to mix it together and put it on the brick.'

‘But we don’t know how many spoons of each powder we need,’ said Alex. ‘Don’t worry,’ said Patrick, ‘let’s experiment.’ Patrick poured all the blue powder into the orange and green powder. Then he added all the green liquid. Suddenly there was a big explosion and a bright red flash. ‘Wow!’ said Patrick. ‘Now that was amazing. I think I added a bit too much liquid,’ he laughed. Alex and Phoebe didn’t think it was funny.

‘What’s that?’ said Alex. He was pointing to a strange, glowing light. It was yellow and it looked like a kind of gate. ‘It’s really strange!’ said Phoebe. The children walked towards the light and stepped into it. They were gone in a flash.

3 Read and answer the questions.

Earthquake shakes London

At 5.37 p.m. yesterday many Londoners suddenly felt the earth shake. We talked to some of them this morning to hear their stories.

'My sons and I were playing football,' said Ken Harmer from Wimbledon. 'We didn't feel much and we weren't worried.'

'I was in the living room,' said his wife, Claire. 'I was reading – it was strange!'

Their neighbour, Caroline, was sleeping when it happened. 'It was terrible. I was so scared!' she said.

Another man, Mr Williams, told us, 'When I felt the earthquake, I was standing on the balcony of our flat. It's on the 27th floor.

All about music: PUNK ROCK

The first punk bands came from the USA and UK in the mid 1970s. Bands like The Ramones and The Clash wanted to change music forever. Their songs were fast, short and often very angry. Punk was about fashion too – scruffy torn clothes, amazing hair styles and lots of safety pins.

A NARROW ESCAPE

1 Go through the story quickly and find answers to the questions.

1 Where are the kids?

2 What year is it?

2 016 Read and listen to the story to check your answers.

Phoebe started running down the stone stairs. 'Hey, wait!' Alex shouted. 'Where are you going?' 'Come quickly. Follow me!' Phoebe shouted. 'Why?' Alex and Patrick didn't understand what was happening. Phoebe was running through the city in the direction of the hills. Alex and Patrick followed her. They ran past the houses and the beautiful temples with their statues and columns, but Alex and Patrick didn't have time to look at any of that. They followed Phoebe up a hill outside the city.

When Phoebe reached the top of the hill, she sat down, and the boys sat down next to her. 'I don't understand!' said Patrick. 'What are we doing here?' Phoebe waited for her breathing to slow down. Then she began to speak. She looked worried. 'This city is Pompeii. We learned about it in History. That volcano over there is going to erupt, and we're in danger!' 'But how do you know it's going to erupt now?' asked Alex.

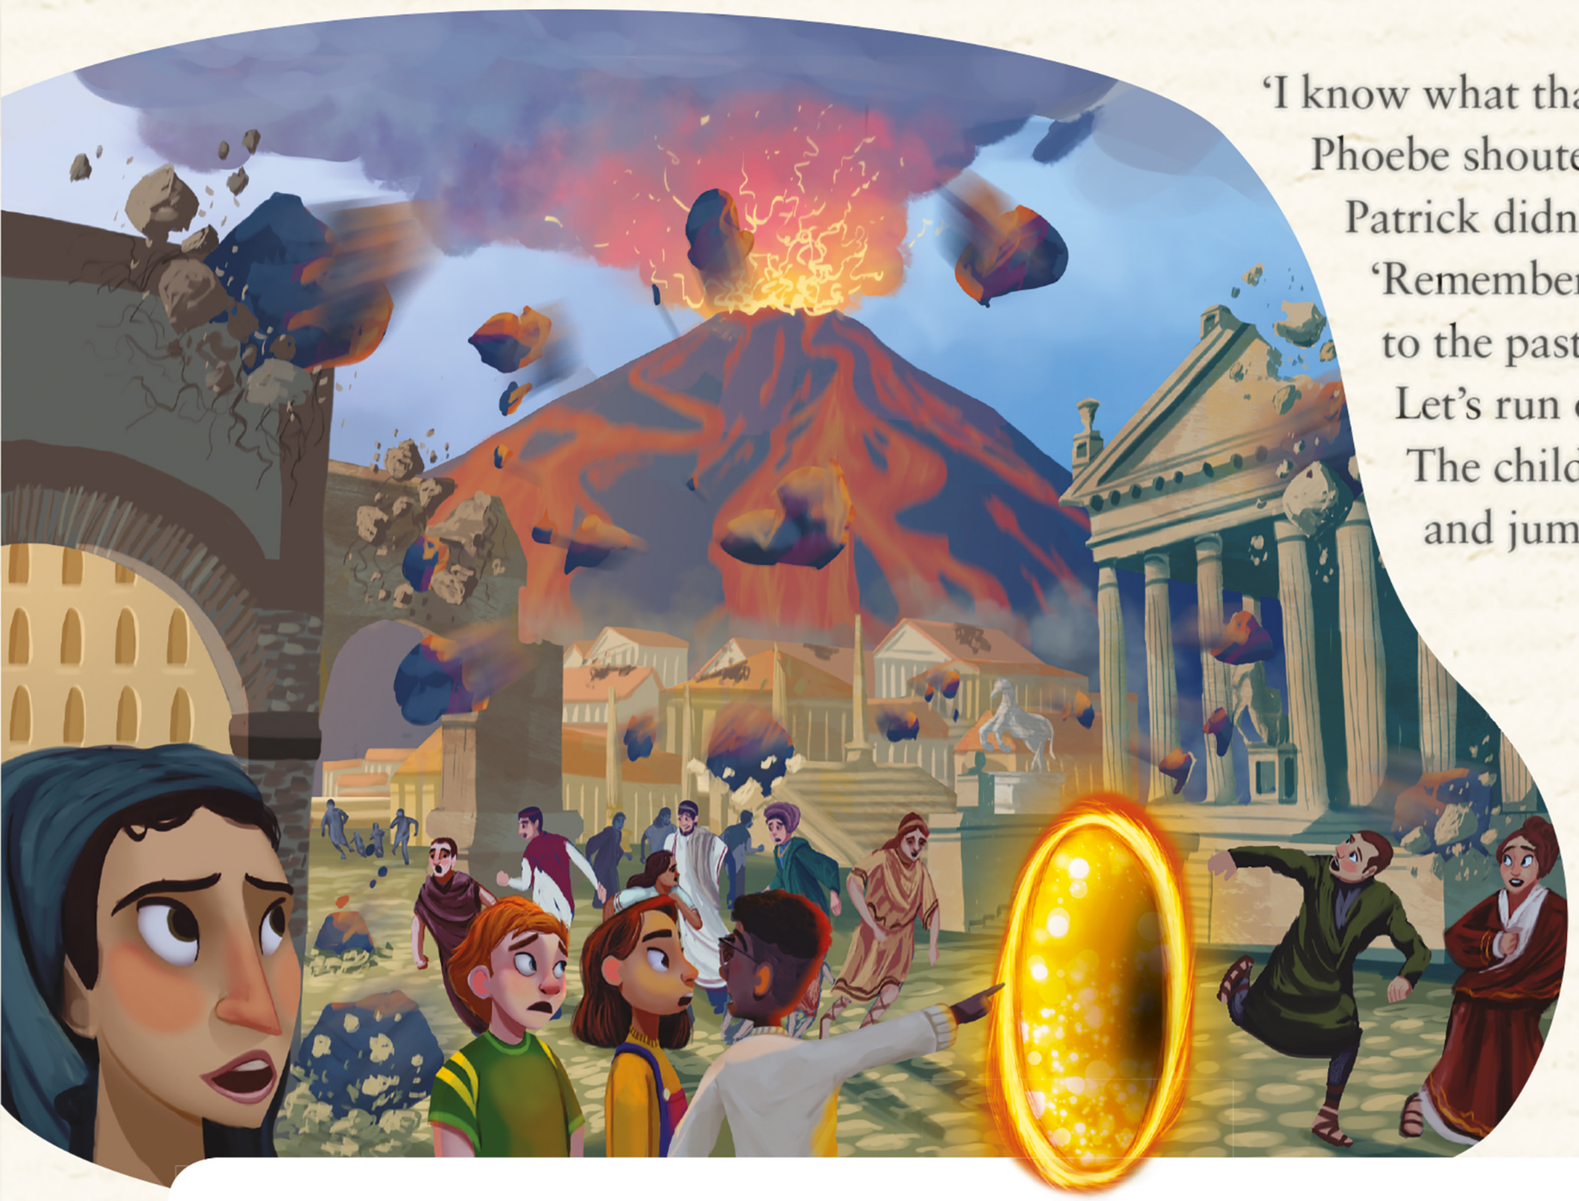

Suddenly there was a loud noise like thunder. The three friends looked up at the volcano. They were scared by what they saw. There was a lot of dark, grey smoke. 'I was right,' said Phoebe. 'We have to go and tell the people who live in Pompeii.' 'But are you certain it's going to erupt?' asked Alex. 'Look!' said Phoebe.' 'Animals often run away from natural disasters. We learned that at school. Now come on! The people are in danger.'

Back in the city, the children tried to tell everyone about the volcano, but the people didn't understand what they were saying and so they were not worried. Suddenly there was another loud explosion.

'Look!' shouted Phoebe. 'It's too late! It's erupting.' Everybody was very scared. The sky became really dark and smoke filled the air. Stones flew from the volcano and landed in the city. People started to run away shouting for help. The children didn't know what to do. Suddenly Alex saw a yellow light through the smoke. 'What's that? Look!' Phoebe and Patrick saw it too.

'I know what that is. It's the gate that brought us here!' Phoebe shouted. 'Let's go through it.' 'The gate?' Patrick didn't understand. 'Yes,' said Phoebe. 'Remember the lab? The yellow glow – the gate to the past. Maybe it'll take us back to our time. Let's run or we'll all die! It's our only chance!' The children ran as fast as they could to the light and jumped. They were gone in a flash!

On August 29th in 79 AD, Vesuvius erupted and destroyed the city of Pompeii. The volcano threw smoke and stones more than 30 kilometres high into the air. Within minutes, the stones, lava and ashes covered the whole city. Almost 20,000 people died.

Being DISASTER SMART can save your life!
Learn about natural disasters NOW

Natural disasters happen all over the world. We cannot stop them from happening. But we can learn what to do when a disaster happens.

The weather causes disasters like thunderstorms, floods, hurricanes and avalanches.

Scientists often know when weather disasters will happen. They give people warnings so they can prepare for these disasters.

Volcanoes and earthquakes are not caused by weather. Scientists have special equipment to watch volcanoes and earthquakes, but they often do not know when a volcano will erupt or an earthquake will happen. That's why volcanoes and earthquakes cause a lot of damage.

Forest fires can happen because of lightning, but sometimes they also happen when people are not careful enough and make a fire in very dry places.

Floods can be very expensive natural disasters because they cause a lot of damage. People should try not to build houses close to rivers because of the danger of floods.

2 Work in groups. Think of a disaster you heard about. Use the questions to tell your classmates about it.

Last year, there was an earthquake in …

- What disaster was it?
- When and where did it happen?
- What happened?
- What kind of damage was there?

1 017 Listen to a news report about a fire and answer the questions.

1 What day did the fire start?

2 How many helicopters are helping?

3 How can people help the fire fighters?

2 018 Listen again and match the sentence halves.

1 This is day five	a no danger to houses.
2 Fire fighters think there is	b cause big problems for the fire fighters.
3 More than 100 fire fighters	c see the fire.
4 The biggest problem	d of the fire on Saddleworth Moor.
5 Some people want to	e are on the moors.
6 These people	f is getting water to the fire.

3 Think of a natural disaster (real or imaginary) and write a short report.

- Think of a natural disaster you want to write a report about. Make notes about:
  - the type of disaster
  - where and when the disaster happens
  - what the disasters can do
- Read your notes to a partner. Make suggestions to help each other.
- Write your report.

This report is about forest fires. Forest fires often happen in the summer in countries which are hot and dry. Forest fires are dangerous. They can burn down trees and houses, and they can be dangerous for people too.

THE EARTH'S PLATES

Super fact!

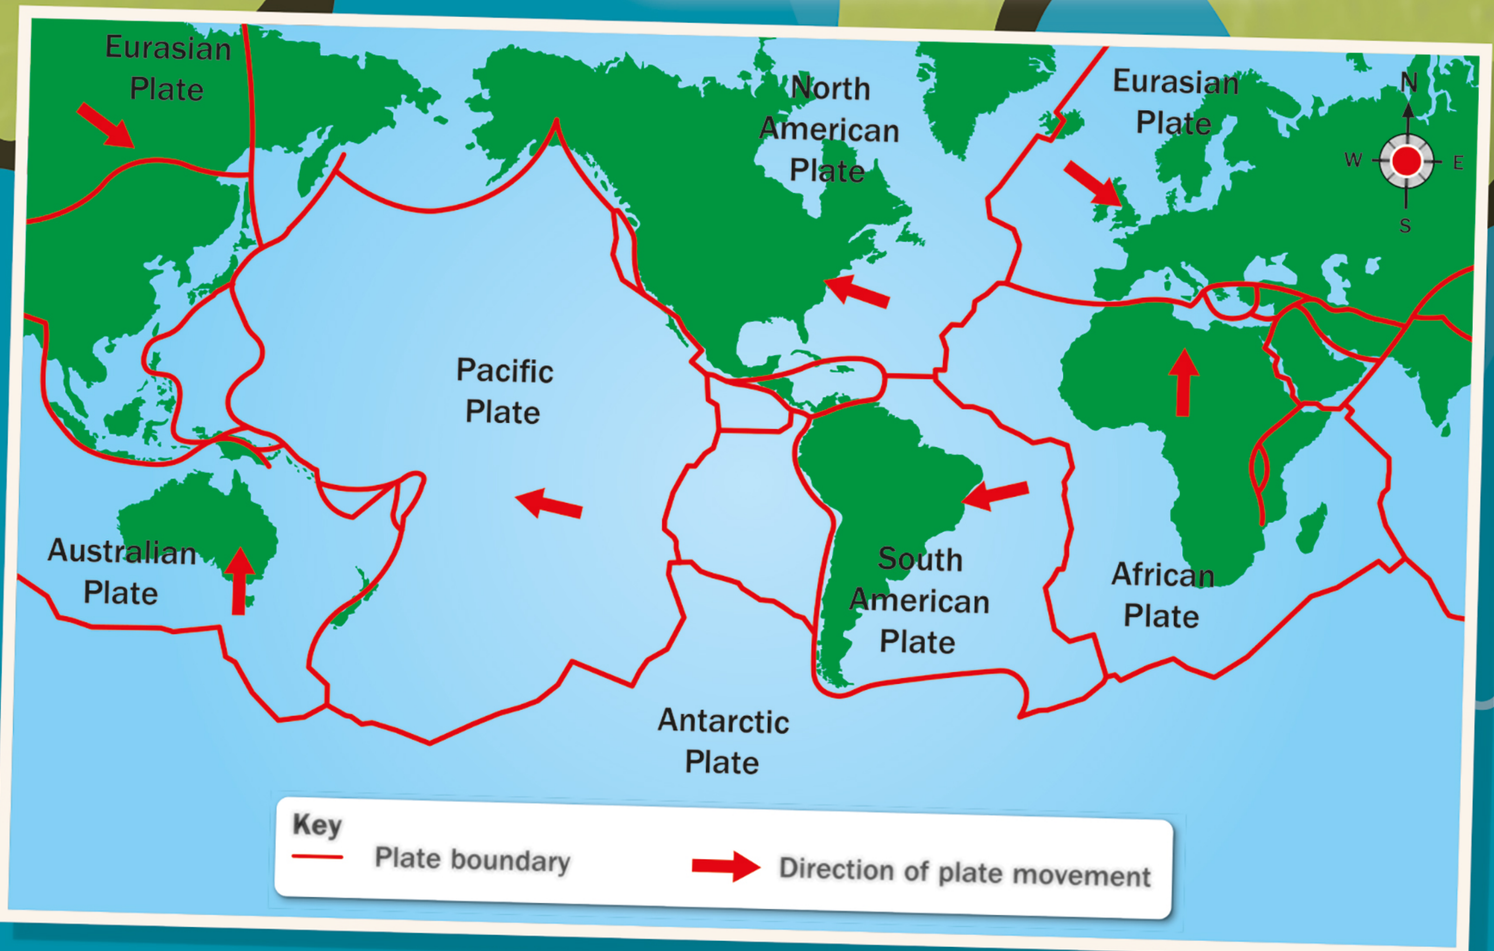

Plates can create mountains. This happens when two plates meet and the land on them moves up.

What are the Earth's plates?

1 Read the text and look at the pictures. How do plates make natural disasters happen?

The Earth has seven big plates and some smaller plates. Land and oceans sit on the plates and the plates move very slowly. Some big plates can move about two centimetres each year.

The arrows ➜ on the map show where the plates are moving. The line around each plate is called a boundary.

There are different kinds of plates. Oceanic Plates are under the ocean. Continental Plates are under land. Some plates, like the South American Plate, are under land and oceans. The Pacific Plate is the biggest plate on Earth.

Where two plates meet, a volcano can erupt.

Where plates meet, an earthquake can happen.

2 What are the words?

1 These plates are under the ocean. _____
2 This is the line around each plate. _____
3 These plates are under land. _____
4 This plate is under land and water. _____
5 This is when fire comes from a volcano because two plates meet. _____
6 The is when land moves because two plates meet. _____

3 Look at the map and at maps of your country. Find out:

- which plate you are on
- the boundary nearest to where you live
- if there are mountains there
- if there are volcanoes there
- if any earthquakes happened there.

4 019 Read this fact file about the Ring of Fire. Think and complete the text with words from the box. Listen and check.

volcanoes millions 452 cities plate earthquakes 40,000 water

THE RING of FIRE

- It's around the Pacific (1) _____.
- It's (2) _____ km long.
- There are (3) _____ volcanoes there.
- Most of the volcanoes are under (4) _____.
- About 90% of all (5) _____ happen in the Ring of Fire.
- Some famous and dangerous (6) _____ are Mount Fuji in Japan and Krakatoa in Indonesia.
- Popocatépetl volcano in Mexico is also dangerous because it is near two big (7) _____: Mexico City and Puebla.
- (8) _____ of people live near Popocatépetl.

5 Project Create another fact file about the South American Plate.

- Find out about the South American Plate online.
- Look for information about how big it is, and about earthquakes, volcanoes and cities on the plate.
- Make notes.
- Design your fact file.
- Find a photo or draw a picture like this.
- Add a label for the picture.

2 028 Read and listen to the story to check your answers.

The children started walking through the rainforest looking for a way out. After half an hour, they came to a river. 'I'm very hungry,' said Alex. 'Me too,' Phoebe and Patrick answered. 'Let's follow the river, maybe we can find a village,' Alex said. The three friends walked along the river in the rainforest for an hour. They were hot and hungry.

Suddenly they heard a very loud animal noise. 'That must be a jaguar,' Patrick shouted. 'Let's climb that big tree over there to hide.' They ran to the tree and started climbing. To their surprise, the terrible noise got louder and louder until it was right above their heads. They looked up into the tree and saw hairy black arms and a tail above them. 'It's a howler monkey,' Phoebe shouted. They all started to laugh. 'That was a scary ten minutes!'

The children climbed down the tree and carried on walking for 20 minutes. Suddenly Patrick stopped. 'Look,' he whispered, 'there's a man with a spear.' 'We have to put our hands on our chest. That means we are friends,' Phoebe said. The man smiled and the three friends followed him. After 15 minutes, they saw some huts and a small village. In the middle, there was a fire with some women and small children sitting around it.

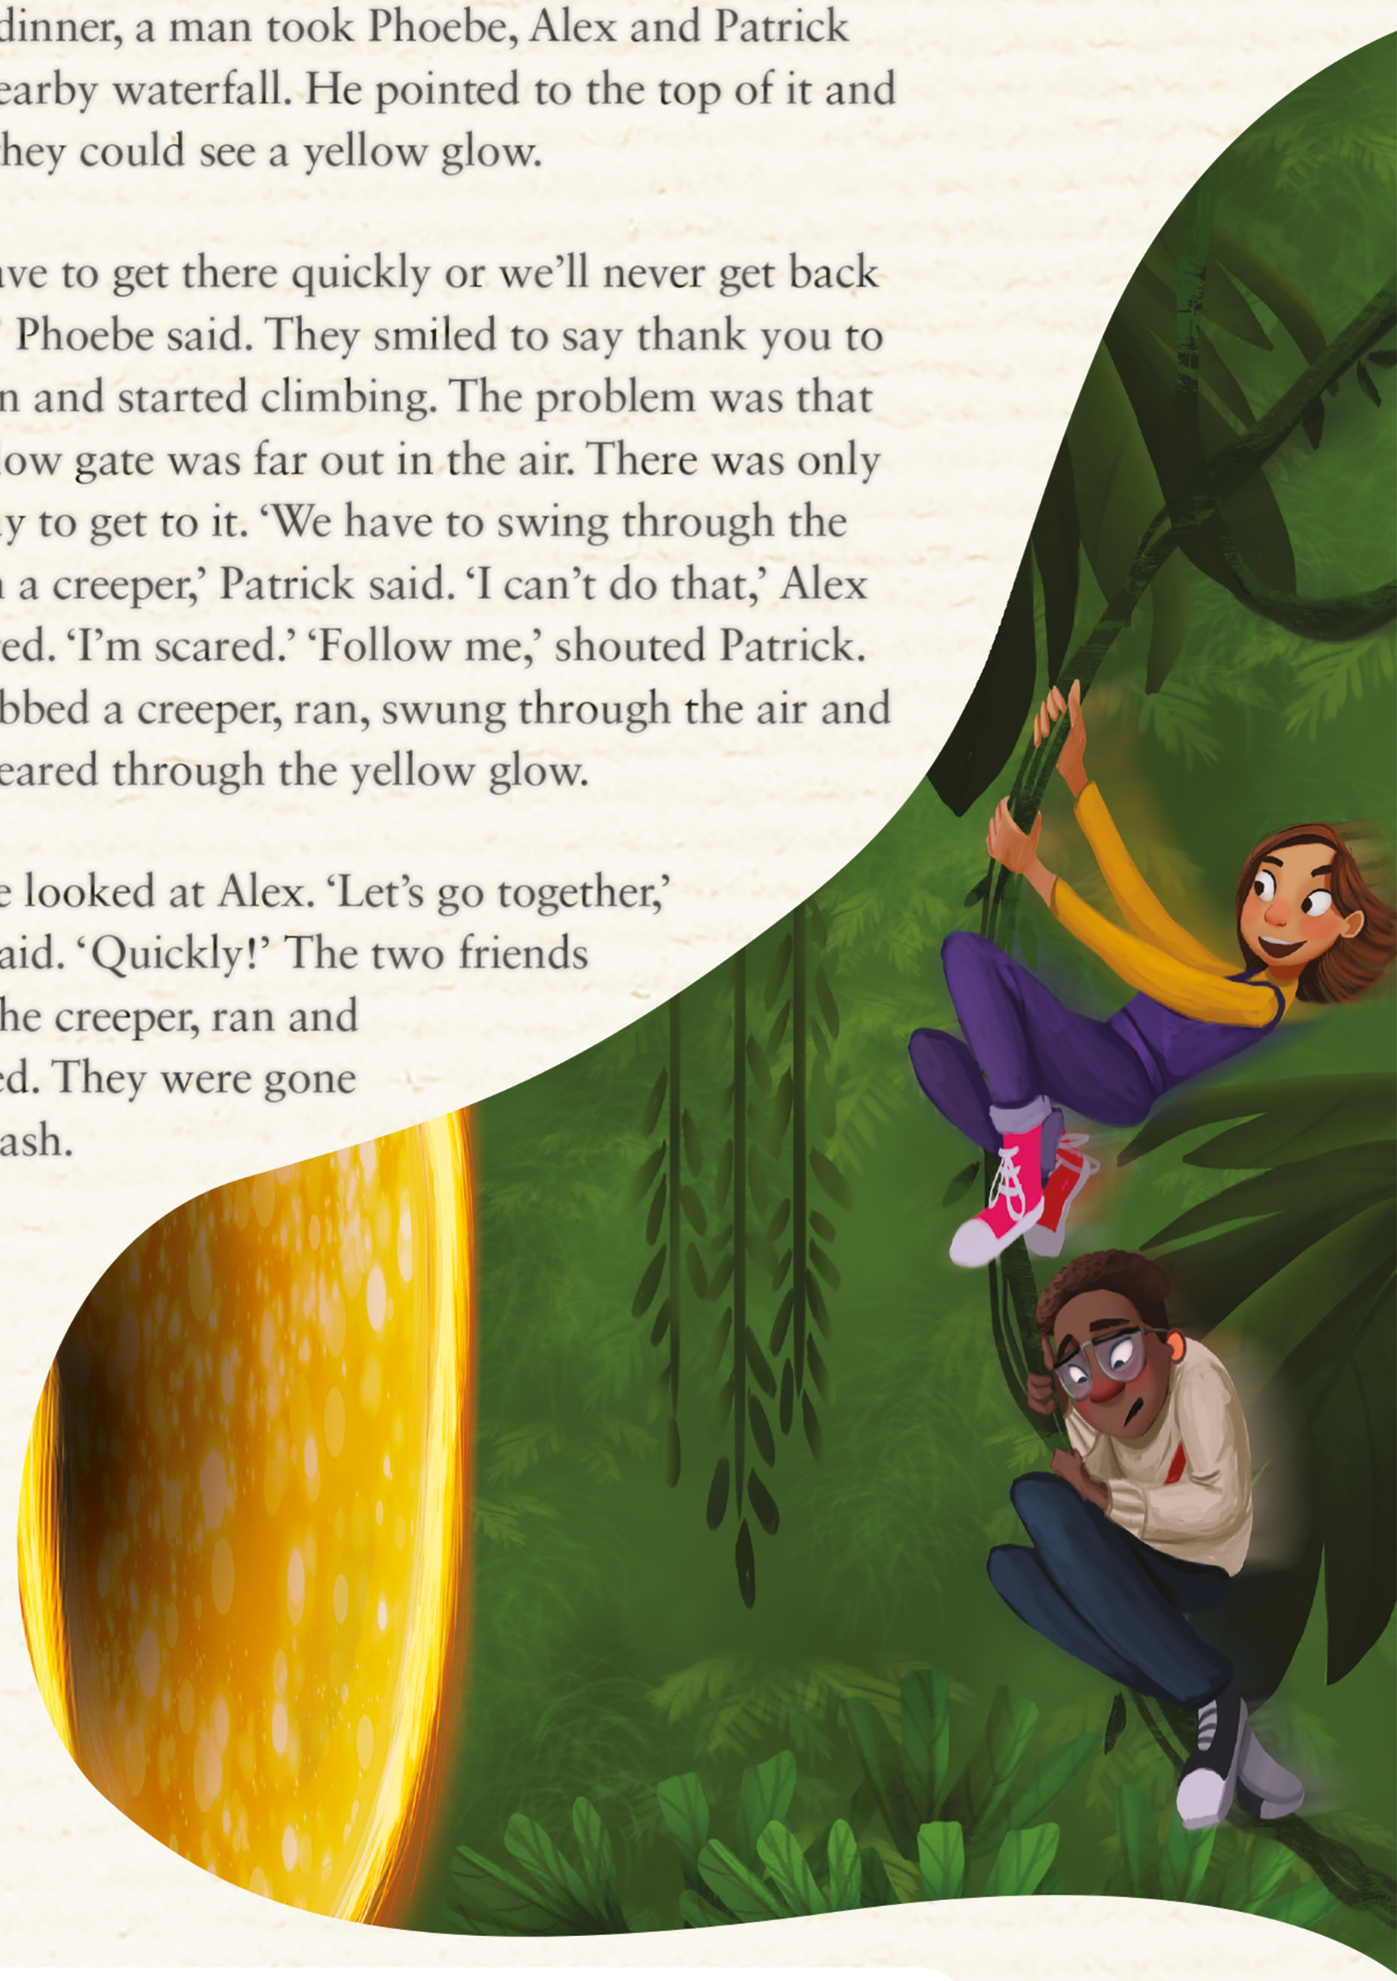

Two men appeared and they took the children to a very old man. 'I think that the old man is the chief, so we have to give him a present,' Phoebe said. Alex gave his penknife to the old man. The old man looked very happy and he pointed at the fire. The children went over and had some delicious food.

After dinner, a man took Phoebe, Alex and Patrick to a nearby waterfall. He pointed to the top of it and there they could see a yellow glow.

'We have to get there quickly or we'll never get back home!' Phoebe said. They smiled to say thank you to the man and started climbing. The problem was that the yellow gate was far out in the air. There was only one way to get to it. 'We have to swing through the gate on a creeper,' Patrick said. 'I can't do that,' Alex answered. 'I'm scared.' 'Follow me,' shouted Patrick. He grabbed a creeper, ran, swung through the air and disappeared through the yellow glow.

Phoebe looked at Alex. 'Let's go together,' Alex said. 'Quickly!' The two friends took the creeper, ran and jumped. They were gone in a flash.

THE HIDDEN TRIBE

A few years ago, a small plane was flying over the Amazon jungle between Brazil and Peru when the pilot saw some huts. A few seconds later, the passengers looked down and saw men painted in red pointing bows and arrows at them. They took some photos and flew away quickly. The scientists were there to find this lost tribe because they wanted to show it to the world and show how important it is to make sure they have a safe place to live.

There are about 100 tribes living in the world that have never met people from outside. More than half of them live in Brazil and Peru. They live a life without mobile phones, cars and the Internet. They have no electricity. It's no surprise that they were scared of the plane.

Now many of these tribes are in danger. The forest where they live is disappearing because people are cutting down the trees to sell the wood and make land for farms. Another big problem for these people are illnesses. Their bodies cannot protect themselves against many illnesses. This means that when they meet people from the outside world they have to be very careful so they do not get ill.

Ecosystems

The ocean, the desert and the rainforest are examples of ecosystems.

What different ecosystems are there?

1 Look at the photos. What can you see?

2 Read the text. What are ecosystems?

Living together

An ecosystem is where many different kinds of animals and plants live together. Plants and animals get food, water and shelter from their ecosystem. Plants give shelter to animals. Some animals (herbivores) eat plants and some animals (carnivores) eat other animals.

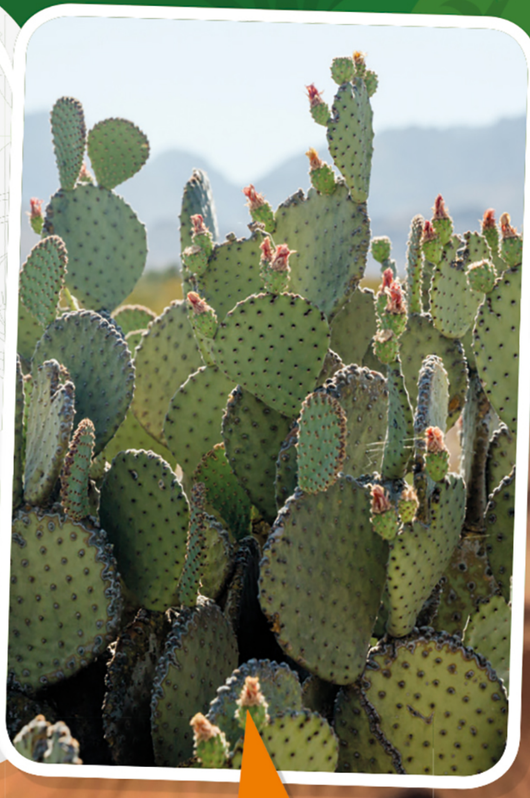

The rainforest is an important ecosystem. There are lots of birds, insects and other kinds of animals in it.

Climate

The climate of an ecosystem is important. It can be hot or cold, dry or wet. Rainforests are hot and wet with lots of rain. This means there is a lot of water for animals and plants.

Deserts are dry with very little rain. This means that plants and animals in the desert need to work hard to find water.

Desert plants often have thick stems and leaves. This means they can keep water inside them to live and grow.

3 Read and name the ecosystem.

1	hot	dry	sand	camels
2	cold	wet	sea	fish
3	hot	wet	trees	parrots

4 Which ecosystems are near you?

There's an ocean ecosystem and a city ecosystem near me.

Super fact!

There are ecosystems in towns and cities. Many plants and animals live in towns near roads, buildings and people. This is called a city ecosystem.

5 Read the notes. Match the ecosystems with the photographs.

Ecosystem	What's the climate like?	Which plants grow there?	Which animals live there?
Tundra	Very cold and windy. Not much rain, but snow and ice most of the year.	No trees, but there are often small plants. There are some flowers in the summer.	Bears, sheep, seals, foxes, birds and some insects.
Wetlands	Cold or hot. Can be wet all year or rainy and sunny. Lots of water.	Plants with long, strong roots sit on the water. Some trees grow in the water too.	Lots of fish, insects, snakes, frogs and water-birds – sometimes crocodiles too.
Grassland	Hot and dry for half the year, wet for half the year.	Lots of grass, but not many trees. Some trees have long roots to get water from far below the ground.	Lots of herbivores like giraffes, zebras and elephants. Carnivores, like lions and snakes.

Rock 'n' roll started in the USA in the early 1950s. It was the first type of music that was very popular with teenagers and many older people did not like it. After the show, the singer and his band left the stage. 'Go on, Patrick,' said Alex. 'Ask him if he's Elvis.' 'Excuse me,' asked Patrick. 'Are you Elvis Presley, the king of rock 'n' roll?' The singer stopped. 'Yes, I am,' he said. He looked very happy. 'I knew it!' said Patrick. 'My grandma loves you.' 'Your grandma?' Elvis looked confused. 'How old is your grandma?' 'She's 70,' Patrick said, 'and she's got all of your CDs.' Now Elvis looked really confused. 'What's a CD?' he asked. 'Never mind,' said Patrick. 'I just wanted to tell you how much people love you.'

Elvis invited the kids to his dressing room. They asked him about being famous. He said that it wasn't always as fun as it looked. 'For example,' he said, 'how am I going to leave the theatre with all those fans waiting? They're going to try to follow me to my hotel.' The children listened. Even in the dressing room they could hear the fans. They were all shouting for Elvis. Alex looked around the room. 'I've got an idea,' he said. 'I'm going to need that long coat, those glasses and that wig. Now listen carefully. Here's the plan …'

Outside the back door there were hundreds of fans waiting. When they saw Elvis, they all screamed and ran towards him. Soon they were all around him, taking photos and trying to talk to him.

Suddenly Elvis took off his wig, glasses and coat. The fans were amazed! Elvis wasn't Elvis! He was Alex sitting on the shoulders of Patrick. 'Sorry fans!' Patrick shouted, 'Elvis wanted a bit of peace and quiet.' The two boys got into a car and drove away. Nobody followed them. At the same time, Elvis was walking out of the front of the theatre with Phoebe, but nobody saw them.

Back at the hotel, Elvis thanked the kids with a fantastic American meal of hot dogs, burgers, ice cream and milkshakes. Elvis was really funny and told them stories about being a rock 'n' roll star. They were having such a good time that Phoebe was sad when she noticed a familiar yellow glow. She turned to the boys who were laughing with Elvis. 'Sorry!' she said, 'but we have to go.' The boys were unhappy because they didn't really want to leave. Elvis watched as the children walked slowly towards the light. They turned to wave goodbye and then they were gone in a flash.

SATURDAY 15th

Grandma and Grandpa came to visit me and my sister. We went to the fun park in Blackhill. Grandma went on the ghost train with us. That was fantastic. We walked to a very nice restaurant and had lunch there.

I had chicken and chips, and my sister had a burger. We went to the town hall. There was a concert with Give It All. They are a new band from Liverpool. The concert was great. We were very tired and went home straight away. We went to bed at ten o'clock.

FOOD WILL NEVER BE THE SAME AGAIN

By our reporter Poppy Beanie

Yesterday, in his laboratory, Professor McKarrot showed us what our food will be like in the future.

Look at these two pills. 'If you put water on the green pill, you get broccoli with fish,' the professor said. The professor poured water on the green pill. But there was a problem. The fish was green too. The professor was not happy.

'If you put water on the pink pill, you get tomatoes with beef,' the professor said. Then he put water on the pink pill. The tomatoes looked like pink roses and the beef looked like pink paper. 'We're working on it,' the professor told us, 'We're not quite there.'

1 knives and forks

2 051 Go through the text quickly. Why does the robot want the children to do the washing up? Listen and check your answer.

The friends sat down at the table. After ten minutes, the waiter came with the starter. There were three bowls with something orange in them. 'Orange soup with fish and pepper,' the waiter said. They tried to eat the soup with their spoons, but it didn't work. The soup was hard. 'If you throw your soup into the air, you can eat it more easily,' said the waiter. So they threw the soup out of the bowls into the air. The soup fell onto the table and broke into hundreds of little orange balls. The children tried to pick up the balls with their spoons, but they always rolled away. 'It's easier if you use your chopsticks,' the waiter said. So they ate the little balls with their chopsticks. 'The soup is really good,' Phoebe said. 'It tastes like fishy, peppery sweets.' 'I like it too,' Alex agreed, 'but I'm still hungry.'

The waiter came in with the second course. There were four big pots with lids on. When the waiter took the lids off, coloured steam came out of them. 'Beef, carrots, broccoli and crocodile,' he said. 'You have to eat the steam fast or it will disappear.' The children took their spoons and tried to eat the steam as quickly as possible, but they didn't get much. 'I can't believe that all we have to eat is soup and steam!' said Alex. 'What's for dessert?' the children asked. 'Wait and see,' answered the waiter.

The kitchen door opened with a loud noise. Phoebe, Alex and Patrick saw a huge spaceship sailing towards them. On it there were lots and lots of burning candles. 'Happy birthday!' shouted the waiter as the spaceship landed in front of Phoebe.

‘Blow out the candles,’ Alex said. ‘Please help me,’ answered Phoebe, ‘there are too many.’ So, together they blew out the candles. ‘Hurray, the spaceship is made of chocolate and there’s ice cream inside,’ Phoebe shouted. Alex, Patrick and Phoebe ate until they were full.

‘That was wonderful,’ Phoebe said. At that moment, the waiter came and gave them the bill. ‘It’s 60,000 goldstars altogether,’ he said.

‘What? We, we … haven’t got any goldstars,’ Patrick answered. The waiter scratched his head. ‘Then I’m afraid that you have to work in the kitchen for a week.’ The children nodded sadly and walked towards the kitchen. When they got to the door, a golden glow appeared around it. They looked at each other happily and walked into it. They were gone in a flash.

FANTASTIC FOOD

My favourite book is Charlie and the Chocolate Factory by the wonderful Roald Dahl. The hero is a small boy called Charlie Bucket, but the real hero of the book is Willy Wonka. In his chocolate factory, he makes the most amazing sweets. Here are just a few of the most wonderful sweets he makes:

1. Chewing gum that is a complete meal: tomato soup followed by roast chicken, and then strawberries with cream. He also has a chewing gum that never loses its flavour.
2. Hot ice cream for a cold day! What a great idea. Now I can eat ice cream every day! He also has an ice cream that never melts.
3. Paper that you can lick. The paper comes with pictures of fruit all over it: oranges, grapes, apples, bananas. When you lick the pictures, you taste the fruit. Brilliant!
4. Lollipops with lights in them. They are perfect for eating in bed and reading at night.
5. Grass made of sugar, called swudge. It grows by the chocolate river and the chocolate waterfall in his factory.
6. He has some great sweets for schoolchildren, like invisible chocolate bars for eating in the classroom. The teacher can't tell you off for eating this because they can't see it. There are also sugar-coated pencils for sucking and magic hand-fudge – you hold the fudge in your hand and you taste it in your mouth.

The children watched the men get off their horses and walk up to the bank. The people in the street looked very worried and went inside their houses. The men had scarves around their mouths. They disappeared inside the bank.

'I don't like this,' said Phoebe. 'I think they're going to rob the bank.' A minute later, a woman ran out of the building. 'They're robbing the bank!' she shouted. 'You were right, Phoebe,' said Alex, 'but what can we do?' 'We can go in and stop them,' said Patrick. 'Don't be silly,' said Phoebe. 'That's too dangerous. Let's go and talk to the sheriff.'

The kids went into the sheriff's office and told him about the robbers. He wasn't very interested. 'Aren't you going to do something?' asked Phoebe. 'What can I do?' asked the sheriff. 'They're the Dalton brothers, the most dangerous robbers around. I'm not going to try to stop them. It's too dangerous!' 'Well somebody has got to do something,' said Patrick. 'Come on, I've got a plan!'

Patrick walked over to the robbers' horses. Phoebe and Alex followed. 'Pass me that rope,' he said. Alex gave him the rope and Patrick tied it around the horses' legs. 'That'll stop them!' he said. 'I think we need to do more' said Alex. 'Give me your penknife, Patrick.' 'Hurry up boys,' said Phoebe. 'The Daltons are coming.'

The Dalton brothers walked up to the children. 'You three are brave,' the tallest one said. He took out a big knife. The kids were scared. 'Don't worry,' he said. 'This is to free our horses. Nice try, kids!' He cut the rope from the horses' legs and they rode away. 'That wasn't a very good plan!' Phoebe said. 'Just wait a minute,' said Alex.

As the Daltons were leaving town, their horses jumped over a fence and the men fell to the ground. 'We've got them!' Alex shouted. 'Get the sheriff.'

The sheriff walked up to the brothers and put handcuffs on them. 'That was very clever, kids, but how did you do it?' 'I knew they had to jump over that fence to leave town,' said Alex, 'so I cut the straps on their saddles.'

The sheriff took the brothers to the jail and put them behind bars. He gave each of the kids a badge. 'Thank you!' he said. As the kids walked past the jail door, the shortest of the brothers shouted out to them. 'We'll get you kids!'

'I don't think so!' said Phoebe. She could see the yellow light glowing. 'Goodbye, Dalton brothers. Goodbye, Sheriff!' The Time Travellers walked into the light and were gone in a flash.

The NATIVE AMERICANS

The first Europeans arrived in North America in 1492 and soon met the Native American people living there. The Europeans thought they were in India so they called these people Indians.

There were millions of Native Americans and they lived in many different tribes. Each tribe was different. They had different languages and lived in different types of houses. They loved their land and nature was important to them.

The Native Americans were friendly to the Europeans and helped them with their new lives. Soon more and more Europeans arrived in North America. Some Europeans didn't like the Native Americans because they were very different. Some wanted the Native Americans' land so they could build their homes and towns. There was fighting and many people were killed.

There are still many Native Americans living in North America. Although some live in cities and towns, many live in areas of land called reservations. They have their own schools and their own police.

6 In Istanbul

Istanbul is one of the world's biggest and most beautiful cities. It is the only city in the world that is built on two continents – Europe and Asia. They are divided by a bit of the sea that looks like a river: the Bosphorus Strait. Tourists love Istanbul because it offers the combination of a modern, Western lifestyle with fascinating Eastern traditions. In 2010, Istanbul was named the European Capital of Culture.

LOST IN THE CITY

1 Look at the pictures. What do you think happens to Phoebe in the story?

2 072 Read and listen to the story to check your answers.

Phoebe bought a little guidebook about Istanbul from the tourist office. The Time Travellers sat down to read it. 'Let's go sightseeing!' said Phoebe. She was so excited. The photos in her book were wonderful. 'This city's great!' Patrick said. 'Let's go!' They made a list of all the sights they wanted to see. 'We should go by underground,' said Phoebe. 'This city's so big, we can't walk all day.'

The nearest underground station was called Taksim. It was full of people and hard to move quickly. 'There's the train! Quick!' Patrick shouted. Patrick and Alex pushed through the crowd and jumped onto the train. Phoebe wasn't fast enough. The doors closed before she could get in! She didn't know what to do. 'Stop!' she shouted, but that didn't help.

Alex and Patrick talked about what to do. How would they find Phoebe in a city of more than 12 million people? 'Let's go and see all the sights we wanted to see,' Patrick said. 'Phoebe knows what they are. I'm sure we'll find her at one of them!' The boys spent six hours in Istanbul. They visited the Blue Mosque with its beautiful blue tiles. They visited the Bosphorus Bridge and the Spice Market, but they didn't find Phoebe. They were really worried.

'Can I help you?' a voice said. 'I'm Ali.' Ali was about the same age as them, and he was very friendly. Alex and Patrick told him what had happened. 'Hm! You lost your friend at the underground station in Taksim. She's probably waiting for you there!' he said. 'Of course!' Alex and Patrick shouted. 'Let's go back to Taksim!'

Sure enough, when the three boys arrived at Taksim they found Phoebe waiting on the platform where they had last seen her.

'I'm so sorry!' Patrick said. 'It wasn't very clever that we got on the train without you!' Phoebe laughed. 'I'm so happy we're together again. So happy! But what did you do all day?' The boys told her about all the beautiful places. 'I'd love to see them too!' Phoebe said. 'We can go and see them tomorrow!' said Ali. 'That's a great idea,' said Phoebe, 'but we can't stay!' 'Why not?' asked Ali. 'Istanbul is beautiful!' 'I know,' Phoebe said sadly. She was looking up towards the escalator where there was a yellow glow.

Ali was unhappy to say goodbye. He saw his three new friends going up the escalator. They waved at him. Then they slowly moved into the light and were gone in a flash.

3 Correct the mistakes in the sentences.

1 Phoebe, Alex and Patrick looked at a book with some photos of the underground.

3 Alex and Patrick went to see some sights. They wanted to find Ali, their friend.

Do you dream of travelling around the world and visiting countries that are far away? Well, maybe they're closer than you think. Have a look around your room. Look at the cool trainers on your floor (the ones your mum's always asking you to tidy away). They're made in Indonesia, which is on the other side of the world. Your jeans and T-shirt? They come from India. Now find your mobile phone. Look under the bed. There it is. That's made from hundreds of different parts from all over the world. Your computer? That came all the way from China.

Now your mum's home from work in her new car. That was made in Germany and then put on a ship and brought here. Your homework is done. You're tired and you need to relax. You lie back on your bed and turn on the TV (which came from Japan). There's a French film on, but you're too tired to read the subtitles. So you change the channel and watch an American police series. Who needs to travel the world? It's all here in your home.

HELPING SHAKESPEARE

1 How do the children think Shakespeare should change the end of his play?

2 What do the audience think of the new ending to the play?

2 086 Read and listen to the story to check your answers.

'Let's go and talk to Shakespeare,' said Phoebe. 'I feel sorry for him.'
'How can we help him?' answered Alex. 'I've got an idea,' Phoebe said.
The friends climbed up onto the stage. Shakespeare was sitting on a big box. The children said hello. 'I don't know what to do,' Shakespeare said. 'The audience didn't like my play. They shouted and threw eggs and vegetables onto the stage.' 'Maybe we can help you,' said Phoebe.
'I don't see how you can do that,' Shakespeare answered sadly.

Suddenly they heard shouting. 'Where is he? We want our money back!' Two men with big sticks were in the theatre looking for Shakespeare. They looked very angry. 'Stand at the edge of the stage,' said Patrick. 'Quickly, they're coming! When they're close, wave your arms in the air.' Shakespeare stood next to the box at the edge of the stage. Patrick picked up an actor's sword and he hid behind the box with Alex.
When the two men saw Shakespeare, they ran up to him shouting, 'Give us our money back!'

The men ran towards Shakespeare. When they were very close, he waved his hands and Patrick tripped them with the sword. With a loud crash they fell off the stage. 'Run, or I'll get you with my sword,' Patrick shouted. The men ran away. They were very frightened. Shakespeare was happy. 'Thank you, you've just saved my life!' he said. 'Please come to my house and have dinner with me.'

At Shakespeare's house, the children and Shakespeare talked about Romeo and Juliet. 'Maybe the audience didn't like the happy ending,' Phoebe said. 'Why don't you rewrite the ending so that they both die? Maybe the audience will like that ending better.' At that moment, they heard voices outside.

Shakespeare opened the door. It was the men from the theatre with some of their friends. They looked very angry. 'That's him,' said one of the men pointing at Patrick. 'He's the one who had the sword.' They all started walking towards Patrick. 'Stop!' shouted Shakespeare. 'Leave the boy alone or you will never know the new ending of my play.' 'New ending?' said one of the men. 'What happens?' 'Come and see,' said Shakespeare 'There are free tickets for all of you.'

The Time Travellers watched from the side of the stage. The audience were enjoying the play and Shakespeare was very happy. At the end, the audience clapped. Shakespeare looked at the kids and waved his hand for them to join him on the stage. As they walked up to it, they saw the yellow glow in front of them. They stepped through and were gone in a flash.

Romeo and Juliet fall in love. Their families are great enemies so they decide to get married in secret. Before this, Juliet pretends to die to avoid marrying a man she doesn't like very much. Barney's fur

Marlowe was the richest man in the village. One evening, three men came to his house. They were tired and wanted a bed for the night.

'You can sleep in the stable,' said Marlowe, 'and my servant will bring you some soup.'

The three men said thank you and went to the stable, and the servant brought them the soup.

In the middle of the night, one of the men quietly got up. He took a rope and tied it round the cow's neck. He led the cow into a forest and tied it to a tree. 'I'll get the cow in the morning and sell her at tomorrow's market,' he thought.

Next morning, the servant went to the stable. When he saw that one cow was missing, he went to tell Marlowe. Marlowe went to the stable. 'Did you take one of my cows?' he asked.

'Of course not,' the three men answered. 'We were asleep all night.'

Marlowe told his wife about the cow. 'I'm sure that one of the three men took the cow.' She said, 'I have a plan.'

They went to the stable and she said, 'We have a very clever dog called Barney. Go into the room where Barney is and stroke him. When the thief touches Barney's fur, Barney will bark.'

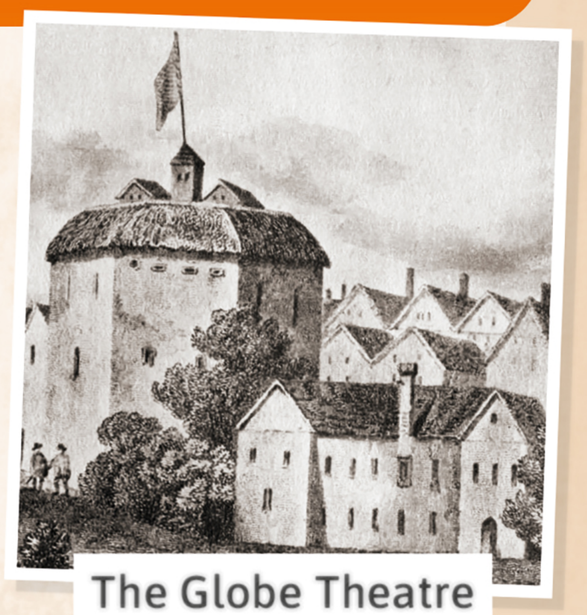

The first man went into the room. The dog didn't make a sound. The second man went in. The dog didn't make a sound. Finally, the third man went in. The dog didn't make a sound.

'Did you all touch the dog's fur?' asked the woman. 'Yes,' they said. Then Marlowe's wife asked to smell the hand they used to touch the dog. She smelt them in turn. When she got to the third man, she smelt his hand and said, 'You are the thief. Your friends' hands smell of Barney. Your hand doesn't. You didn't touch Barney's fur. You didn't want Barney to bark. Now, please tell us where the cow is.'

5 Take turns to mime an action to a partner. Guess the action.

- playing a musical instrument
- playing a board game
- fighting with a sword
- eating a meal
- riding a horse
- climbing a tree

Are you playing a musical instrument?

Yes, that's right.

Sometimes actors didn't use props. They mimed the actions. When you mime, you use your hands and body to show the action.

6 Project Make a theatre stage in a box.

- Choose the kind of play that you want to show.
- Paint a scene at the back of the box.
- Draw and cut out some actors and their costumes.
- Make two or three props.
- Stick your actors and props on the stage.
- Tell your friends about the play, the characters and the props.

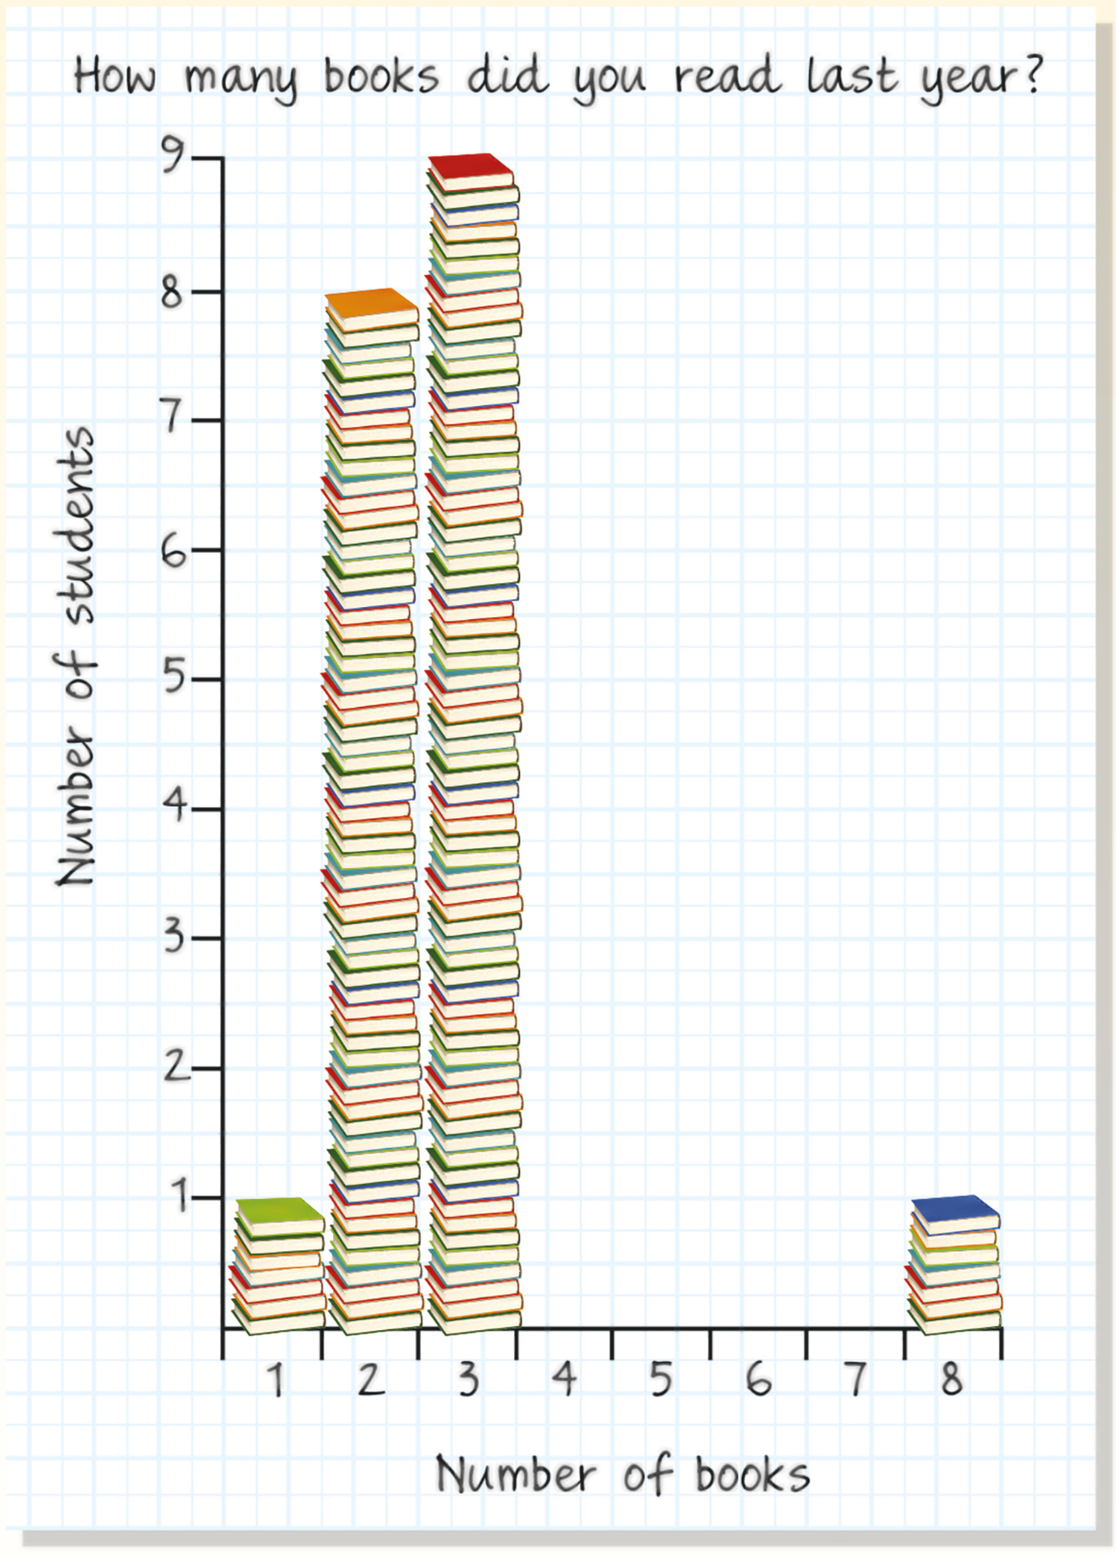

This is our stage. The play is a comedy. The characters are dancing after dinner. The actors are wearing make-up and wigs. The props are a table with some food on it.

THE TROUBLE WITH ORANGEHEAD XR–97

1 Work in pairs. Look at the pictures and the title of the story.

1 Write down words that come to your mind.

2 Make a story out of your words.

2 101 Read and listen to the story to find out if it is similar to or different from your story.

The children walked around the museum. There were some sports cars and motorbikes at the end of it. 'Amazing!' Alex thought. 'People don't use cars and motorbikes any more!' 'Boring,' said Patrick. 'I'm going.' 'Where?' shouted Phoebe. Patrick pointed at a door with a Don't enter sign on it. 'Let's open that door,' he said. 'Patrick, no!' said Phoebe.

Patrick didn't listen. He went into the room. Alex and Phoebe followed him. Inside, sat a big robot with an orange head. It was at a computer with its back to the children. 'Tomorrow, I'll be master of the world!' laughed the robot. The children were scared. 'What can we do?' Patrick whispered. 'Let's get out of here,' said Phoebe.

They left the room and heard a sound coming from a submarine. 'Help! Help me!' 'What's that?' Patrick asked. There was a man trapped inside. He looked very scared. 'How can we get him out?' asked Phoebe. Patrick ran towards the room with the models. A minute later, he was back with a big box of tools from the mechanic.

The children opened the door and set the man free. His name was Don and he was the programmer of the robots. 'Orangehead XR-97 was my best robot,' Don said sadly. 'But he's dangerous. He locked me in the submarine. He wants to take over the world. If we don't stop him, he will destroy everyone.' The children were very worried. 'What can we do?' asked Alex.

Don had an idea. 'Every morning from 6.55 to 7 o'clock, all the robots shut down for five minutes to charge their batteries. That's our only chance. But now we have to hide. Quick!'

'Hide? Where?' said Patrick. 'Get on a motorbike or in a car. But don't move,' said Don. Don climbed back into the submarine. When the robots came to clean the room, they saw two boys in the sports car and a girl on the motorbike, but they thought they were wax models.

The next morning at 6.55, Don and the children entered the computer room. It was full of very quiet robots, including Orangehead XR-97. Don switched on the computer and worked very quickly. At 7 o'clock, there was a loud noise. The Time Travellers saw flames and smoke coming out of Orangehead XR-97. 'I destroyed it!' Don said.

He turned around to thank the children and saw a bright glowing yellow light. The children waved goodbye and stepped into the light. They were gone in a flash.

3 Complete the sentences. You can use 1, 2, 3 or 4 words.

The Mary Celeste

1 Go through the story quickly and find answers to the questions.

1 Why were the children hiding?

2 Why did one of the sailors know where the children were hiding?

2 114 Read and listen to the story to check your answers.

The children hid in a lifeboat and watched the sailors working. They didn't seem very friendly. Two of them came and stood by the lifeboat. 'I'm worried,' one of them said. 'The captain's nervous. He's already shouted at me three times today …' 'Atishoo!' sneezed Patrick. 'Whoops! I'm sorry!'

The sailors heard the noise and looked in the lifeboat. They found the children and took them to the captain. 'Look what we found!' one of them said. 'Lock them in my cabin,' said the captain. He looked worried. 'I'll talk to them later.'

The children looked around the cabin. The door would not open. 'Now, what?' Alex asked. 'We'll have to wait and see what the captain says,' said Patrick. Phoebe picked up a book from the table. 'Hey, listen guys. It's the captain's diary!' She read out, 'Things are strange. There is something wrong with this ship. I have a strong feeling that something bad is going to happen. 'Quick!' Patrick interrupted. 'Come and look out of the porthole!'

'Look at all those lights. It's our gate!' shouted Alex. 'We've got to go! But those lights are green,' said Phoebe. 'Our gate's yellow! That's very strange!'

'We've got to get out of here,' said Patrick. 'Let's break the door down.' The children picked up the table and banged it against the door. It opened and they walked out. There were green gates glowing all over the ship. The children were amazed. 'Look, there's a sailor. He's walking through one of the green gates!' shouted Alex. The sailor walked through the gate, and a second later he was gone. Everything was silent. There was no-one left!

'Now I remember,' said Alex. 'The Mary Celeste was the ship that they found with no-one on it. No-one knew what happened.' 'Now we know, but nobody would believe us,' said Phoebe. 'Look!' shouted Patrick. 'There's a yellow light. That's our gate. Come on!' The children stepped into the yellow gate. They were gone in a flash … and landed in their school playground with a thump.

'I don't believe it!' said Phoebe. 'We're home. Look there are Sam and Rob.' The Time Travellers ran over to their friends. 'Hey, guys!' said Patrick. 'You'll never guess what just happened. We had an incredible journey. That explosion in the Science lesson created a time tunnel… .' 'Very funny! We haven't had Science yet. It's this afternoon!' Sam laughed. 'Come on, lunch is nearly over and I want to play football.' The three friends looked at each other. Were they really back at the right time or was something wrong?

3 _____

Here are two of the famous disappearances:

- In 1918, a ship called the US Cyclops disappeared in the area. None of the 306 people on the ship were ever seen again.
- In 1945, a group of fighter planes disappeared while they were flying over the area. The next day, another plane went to look for the missing fighters. This plane also disappeared.

4 _____

Some people say that there is nothing mysterious about the area. There are a lot of ships in this area, so it's not surprising that sometimes ships go missing. They also say that the bad weather in the area causes a lot of problems.

Other people think the area is more mysterious. Some people believe that aliens have taken the ships. Other people that a giant whirlpool pulls ships and planes under the sea.

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

2 Read again and correct the sentences.

1 The Bermuda Triangle is in the Pacific Ocean.
2 Only ships disappear in the area.
3 The US Cyclops was a plane.
4 In 1945, a plane disappeared in the area.
5 Not many ships sail in the area.
6 The weather is always good in the area.

3 What do you think? Discuss in pairs then share your opinion with the class.

I think the Bermuda Triangle is …

Maybe it is …

Do you really think so?

That's a good idea.

3 Read about camouflage. Can you see the fish in the picture?

Many marine animals use camouflage to hide from other animals. Some fish have colours and patterns that look like sea plants. Sea turtles have colours and patterns on their shells that look like rocks. Dolphins and whales often have dark backs so they are camouflaged at the top of the water.

Super fact!

Most crocodiles live in rivers, but some crocodiles live in the sea. We call them saltwater crocodiles.

Warm-blooded animals can stay hot when their environment is cold.
Cold-blooded animals are hot when their environment is hot and cold when their environment is cold.

Marine animal: Green sea turtle
Type of animal: Reptile
Lives for: Up to 100 years.
How fast? They can swim from 3 to 35 kilometres an hour.
Eats: Sea plants, and grasses (they're herbivores).

Special features: They lay eggs in the sand on beaches.

Marine animal: Orca

Special features: They work together in a family to find food.

Which animal:

1 is the fastest? _____
2 lives the longest? _____

2 118 Listen again and answer the questions.

Find out about it

- Work in groups of three. Choose an unexplained mystery and find out more about it.
- Possible topics are: Bigfoot, the Yeti …
- Use books and magazines.
- Talk to your family and to friends.
- Go online and see what you can find on the Internet.
- In your group, decide what each of you is going to talk about.

Prepare it

- Each of you tries to find out some important facts about the mystery. Take notes. Compare your notes. Put them in order.
- Find pictures and print them out. Make sure the pictures or photos are big enough for your classmates to see from a distance.
- Decide what each of you is going to say and write your part of the talk. Then show it to your teacher to help you with the language.
- Correct the text if necessary. Read it often enough so that you know what you will say.
- Practise it as a group. Each of you should know when the other one stops so you know when to start. Decide when to show the pictures.

Present it

- Tell your classmates about your topic and present the pictures.
- You should talk for about a minute, but do not just read your text.
- Make sure that all your classmates can see the pictures.

Presenting tip

When you practise, check if one of you says ‘um’ or ‘ah’ a lot. If you do, try not to. Your classmates may think that you have not prepared well if there are lots of ‘ums’ and ‘ahs’.

The waiter takes them to the kitchen to wash up. They are saved because the gateway appears.

2 The children arrive in the Wild West. A bank robbery is taking place. They talk to the sheriff. He doesn't do anything. He is scared of the robbers. Alex has a plan. He ties a rope around the robbers' horses' legs. The robbers fall off their horses. The sheriff arrests them. The kids disappear through the gateway.

3 The next place they arrive in is Istanbul. They decide to go sightseeing, but Phoebe misses the train. She is lost. The boys try to find her. A Turkish boy helps them. Finally, they find Phoebe and they say goodbye to their new friend as they walk through the gateway to a new adventure.
